Housereef Diving

The house reef of Reethi Beach lies on a channel and stretches out along the west side of the island as a 30 m drop off wall. On the east side, there is a vast Thundi (sand lagoon) with interesting coral blocks and some nice artificial surprises. Due to its diversity and wealth of fish life, the house reef of Reethi Beach is surely one of the most beautiful ones of the Maldives. The regular passing of spinner dolphins, eagle rays, schools of barracudas, batfish and the thousands of fusiliers are just some of the highlights. You can also see turtles, octopus, lobsters, moray eels and of course our lemon shark family.

Yet another specialty is the evening visits by sting rays, guitar sharks and cobias which come right up to the shore at their daily feeding time.

Four buoys marking the entries and exits were set on the channel site, especially for snorkelers and divers, to be used during both high and low tide for their own safety. The house reef can be explored from early morning until late in the evening.

Boat Dives

A lot of dive spots can be reached within 10-45 minutes by boat (dhoni). The furthest dive spot is about 1 hour away from Reethi Beach. At the moment we dive at approx. 60 different spots, which we divide in 4 basic categories: Thilas, Outer Reefs, Island Reefs and Atoll Reefs.

Depending on the season we can see different fish life. During the west monsoon (June – November) we have our Manta season in which we can almost give a 100 % guarantee for encounters with this elegant giant ray. In August/September the chances for whale shark visits are very high and all in all there is more or less a big fish soup under water.

In the east monsoon (December – May) the water is clearer and we can see sharks and the beautiful colors of the soft corals.

Diving Courses

Discover Scuba Diver. The Discover Scuba Dive is the first step to become a diver. During one lesson we will teach you some skills in shallow water – and off you go to your first real dive at a max. depth of 12 m. The duration of a DSD adventure is approx. 2 hours and no pre-qualification is required.

Scuba Diver. The Scuba Diver Course is the first part of a Open Water Diver course. It includes theory, confined water lessons and two open water dives. The required time for this course is one day minimum. At the end of this course you will get an international recognized certification that allows you to dive with a professional guide down to 12 meter maximum.

Open Water Diver. The PADI Open Water Diver course is the real key for new experience in your life. It will take you only 3 – 4 days to complete this course. During this course you will learn all the necessary steps to dive down to a max. of 18 meter. At the end of this course you will be awarded with the OWD certification, that allows you to dive all over the world without expiring date.

Referral OWD. The Referral OWD course is designed for beginners who completed the theory and confined water lesson at home and would like to finish the course somewhere else. After completion of the four open water dives you will reach the Open Water Diver level.

Advanced Open Water Diver. This course will give you another view of diving. In five different fields you will learn other techniques and skills. For example in deep diving, navigation, night, peak performance buoyancy, fish identification, naturalist or photography. Minimum requirement is OWD level.

Nitrox Specialty Course. Nitrox is the airbag for a diver. Using Nitrox during a dive means less nitrogen absorption. In this course we will explain you the advantage of nitrox and at the end you will be a certified Nitrox Diver. The minimum required level is OWD.

Rescue Diver: You are a PADI Advanced diver or equivalent, you have experience, and you feel confident with your diving skills. It might interest you to know what to do and how to do if somebody around you has a problem? It will take 3-4 days and consists of classroom presentations about how to be prepared, prevent, assess and act in order to manage a potential diving incident. It will be followed by practical training underwater and surface skills to help a diver in need.
