Full Day Excursion

Housereef Diving

The housereef of Reethi Beach lies on a channel and stretches out along the west side of the island. A beautiful reef wall that drops down to 30m is waiting to be encountered. On the east side there is a vast 'thundi' (sandy lagoon) with nice coral blocks and some nice artificial surprises.

Due to its diversity and wealth of fish life, the house reef of Reethi Beach is surely one of the most beautiful ones in the Maldives. The regular passing of spinner dolphins, eagle rays, schools of barracudas, batfish and thousands of fusiliers are just some of the highlights. You can also encounter turtles, octopus, lobsters, moray eels and of course our black tip and lemon shark families.

Yet another specialty is the evening visits by sting rays, guitar sharks and cobias which come right up to the shore at their daily feeding time.

Four buoys - marking the entries and exits - were set on the channel site, especially for snorkelers and divers, to be used during both high and low tide for their own safety. The House reef can be explored from early morning until late in the evening.

Boat Dives

Most of the dive spots can be reached within 10 – 45 minutes by boat (Dhoni). The furthest dive spot is about 1 hour away from Reethi Beach. At the moment we visit approx. 60 spots, which are divided in 4 basic categories: thilas (shallow points), outer reefs, island reefs and atoll reefs.

Depending on the season we can see different fish life. During the south-west monsoon (june – november) we have our Manta season in which we can almost give a 100% guarantee for encounters with this elegant giant rays.

In this time the chances to see whale sharks is also much higher than the other periods of the year.

During the north-east monsoon the water is much clearer, means that the visibility is up to 40m and the colors seems to be much brighter.
